A tee box became a Wimbledon-like court.

ON CENTRE COURT

Glendoveer brings a taste of Wimbledon to Portland

People put down their putters and picked up their tennis rackets at Glendoveer's first-annual Post Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

On this day, Glendoveer boasted only the second grass tennis court in the entire Northwest. It may be the first time in the United States that tennis players were welcomed to a unique playing surface, transforming a large tee box into a championship-size tennis court on the grass.

Many avid tennis players go their whole lives without getting a chance to play on the original playing surface. With the sun shining, the All England Club was transported and opened up to all.

The event was accompanied with fruit, champagne, and some friendly competition. When the tournament concluded winners were crowned, friends were made, and everyone walked away with an experience they will never forget.

MOVIE NIGHT

BIG SCREEN ON THE GREEN!

HUNDREDS GATHER FOR A NIGHT OF FOOD, FAMILY, FUN

As the sun set on another beautiful Portland day, the real excitement was just beginning. Glendoveer Golf and Tennis launched its initial Big Screen on the Green event.

This FREE event brought community members together for a family movie night under the Oregon stars. Close to 600 kids and families showed up for a screening of Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted.

Much like the characters on the screen, there was plenty see around the driving range where the movie was featured. Face painting, balloon animals, and popcorn stations were all on hand, as well as SNAG golf, an innovative and kid-friendly approach to introducing new players to the game.

A fun time for kids.

EASTER EGG HUNT THOUSANDS GATHER FOR AN AGE-OLD TRADITION

The Easter bunny was in town and left behind hundreds of eggs for Glendoveer's Golden Easter Egg Hunt.

More than 2,000 costumed kids and families showed up for this inaugural event designed to bring the community together and give children an opportunity to take part in Easter festivities.

Kids of all ages were in attendance with their baskets, eagerly waiting to find some eggs. They searched greens, bunkers, and fairways for their eggs anticipating what they would find inside.

Free to all those who attended, the event drew more people than expected, emphasizing the patrons' attachment to the community. With the successful turnout and feedback, this event is sure to be back in the future and bigger than ever.

The Haunted Forest Halloween event drew more than 600 kids to Glendoveer Golf and Tennis to participate in activities such as trick-or-treating, laser tag, night golfing and a costume competition. There also was a visit from Portland Fire and Rescue.

THE HAUNTED FOREST

Trick-or-treating highlights Halloween at Glendoveer

Superman, Spiderman, and Wolverine were all in attendance as Glendoveer put on its Haunted Forest Halloween event at Glendoveer.

Kids from all over the area were invited to take part in this wonderful holiday event.

The tennis courts were transformed into a Haunted Forest to give them a safe place to do their trick or treating this year.

More than 600 kids and family members attended the forest with smiles, costumes and their sweet tooth. Candy wasn't the only thing on display this night as kids were invited to participate in laser tag, night golfing, and a costume competition.

Portland Fire and Rescue was on hand giving out honorary badges. Amazing support from community businesses and organizations made this a Halloween that none of the kids will ever forget.

Goats were used to help control evasive weeds, and a new solar-powered cart barn was built at Glendoveer.

GOING GREEN

Environmentally focused capital projects are a huge success

The partnership between CourseCo and Metro is truly exemplified by the commitment to the environment that is a long-standing part of their individual cultures.

The past year is highlighted by the successful completion of many projects designed to lessen the environmental footprint.

One of the largest projects completed was the construction of a new, solar powered cart barn. Working with the Energy Trust of Oregon, Glendoveer invested heavily into this new facility designed to harness solar energy to power its fleet of electric carts.

All of the paint used in construction, as well as used throughout the course, is recycled Metro Paint. Along with investing in environmentally friendly technologies, Glendoveer is also looking at other methods to increase environmental sustainability.

Recently they acquired goats to help control an invasive weed species rather than using harmful weed killing chemicals.

The goats are a welcoming sight, and they provide an extremely useful purpose. Glendoveer is also taking a new approach to pest control by using Integrated Pest Management principles.

They are principles designed to take a macro look at the problem and handle it in the most environmentally friendly way as possible. With these new additions and principles, Glendoveer will continue to lead the push in environmental sustainability.
